IMMIGRATION LAW

Changes for entry to Canada for dual Canadian citizens

Effective November 10, 2016, Canadian citizens, including dual citizens, will need to show proof they are Canadian to board flights to Canada. The only acceptable proof of Canadian citizen will be a valid Canadian passport; a Canadian temporary passport; or a Canadian emergency travel document. If you do not have one of the aforementioned items, you will need to contact the closest Canadian government officer in order to obtain a proper document. Be prepared and be sure you have a valid Canadian passport. For details on obtaining your Canadian passport: Canada.ca/passport
